INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO

Altelier is a space dedicated to the sale of select products. The product is colorful and its packaging has different formats. These features were taken into account for the final design. Food is the star of the store.

The finishes of the interior architecture orbit around these spotlights, being neutral and respectful in a soft color palette composed of washed white, yellow and blue-green tones. Materials such as mosaic, stone and lacquered metal are the solid solutions for a smooth balance between the architecture and the products to be displayed. All this, combined with a handmade resin floor application, conveys a zen feeling of spatial harmony.

The perception, intimate and relaxed, in contrast to the urban and colorful image of the products. The walls are treated with a layer of unpigmented lime.
